Interim report 2000

Characteristics of The Growth Enterprise Market (“GEM”) of The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited (the “Exchange”)

GEM has been established as a market designed to accommodate companies to which a high investment risk may be attached. In particular, companies may list on GEM with neither a track record of profitability nor any obligation to forecast future profitability. Furthermore, there may be risks arising out of the emerging nature of companies listed on GEM and the business sectors or countries in which the companies operate. Prospective investors should be aware of the potential risks of investing in such companies and should make the decision to invest only after due and careful consideration. The greater risk profile and other characteristics of GEM mean that it is a market more suited to professional and other sophisticated investors.

Given the emerging nature of companies listed on GEM, there is a risk that securities traded on GEM may be more susceptible to high market volatility than securities traded on the Main Board and no assurance is given that there will be a liquid market in the securities traded on GEM.

The principal means of information dissemination on GEM is publication on the internet website operated by the Exchange. Listed companies are not generally required to issue paid announcements in gazetted newspapers. Accordingly, prospective investors should note that they need to have access to the GEM website in order to obtain up-to-date information on GEM-listed issuers.

The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited takes no responsibility for the contents of this announcement, makes no representation as to its accuracy or completeness and expressly disclaims any liability whatsoever for any loss however arising from or in reliance upon the whole or any part of the contents of this announcement.

This announcement, for which the directors of Excel Technology International Holdings Limited. Collectively and individually accept responsibility, includes particulars given in compliance with the Rules Governing the Listing of Securities on the Growth Enterprise Market of The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited for the purpose of giving information with regard to Excel Technology International Holdings Limited. The directors, having made all reasonable enquiries, confirm that, to the best of their knowledge and belief:— (1) the information contained in this announcement is accurate and complete in all material respects and not misleading; (2) there are no other matters the omission of which would make any statement in this announcement misleading; and (3) all opinions expressed in this announcement have been arrived at after due and careful consideration and are founded on bases and assumptions that are fair and reasonable.

BUSINESS REVIEW AND OUTLOOK

The Group is principally engaged in the development, sale and implementation of enterprise software, the operation of the ASP (application service provider) business through i21 Limited ("i21"), IT consultancy, systems integration and resale and maintenance of IT products, all with a principal focus on the banking and finance sector in the Greater China and Southeast Asia. For the six months ended 30th June, 2000, the unaudited turnover of the Group was HK$70,870,000, representing an increase of 92.60% over the same period in 1999, while the profit attributable to shareholders was HK$6,260,000 as compared to a loss of HK$2,385,000 over the same period in 1999. Strong growth in the unaudited turnover of the Group was mainly attributable to increased sales in the Group's enterprise software, custom development projects and resale of hardware and software immediately after the first quarter of 2000.

Sales in the first quarter of 2000 was slow due to the Y2K freeze till the end of February 2000. Sales bounced back significantly thereafter with demand in such leading products as Loans, InterTrade, and HRMS increased. The Group had concluded a contract to develop the iTreasury project which would be a corporate treasury bidding system on the Internet. This project will reap not only development fees but also equity income and potential capital gain for the Group.

During the period under review,

- (1) The Group received strong demand for its enterprise software as its core clienteles in the banking and finance sector were actively seeking new IT solutions in response to new business development. Effort has been made to step up the resources required to accommodate this increase in demand;
- (2) The resale of hardware and software products, together with the systems integration service business, were also in great demand as a result of the strong enterprise software sales;
- (3) i21, the ASP company of the Group, has signed up two broker consortia for offering their member brokers the iStock21 service, and has also signed up two major banks for providing the iHR21 service to the banks' customers for human resource administration including payroll processing and mandatory provident fund contribution;
- (4) The Group has completed the development of its enterprise software in the e-commerce area. This new enterprise software, referred to as "eSAM", is an electronic supply chain management system tailored for the retail business. The first installation of eSAM has been successfully completed for the regional operations of a major UK based retail chain store;
- (5) A wholly-owned subsidiary in each of Singapore and Guangzhou of China has been set up to inaugurate the Group's geographical expansion plan; and
- (6) On 28th June, 2000, the Company issued additional convertible notes to Alps Mountain Limited, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Cheung Kong (Holdings) Limited, for HK$47,220,278. The terms and conditions of the additional convertible notes were disclosed in the listing prospectus dated 20th June, 2000.

FUTURE PROSPECTS

With the passage of the Y2K problem after the first quarter of 2000, the banking and financial sector in Hong Kong has been actively looking for new application solutions and new computer systems to replace or enhance existing operation platforms. Our sales and marketing team has built strong sales momentum in enterprise software packages, custom development projects and resale of hardware and software.

The Group was short-listed for a major custom development project for a treasury system by a regulatory body in Hong Kong and is in the midst of contract negotiation. The Group is confident that with its experience in the banking and financial sector and in-depth knowledge in treasury applications. The Group intends to use the reusable components developed for this project as the basis for its new treasury, modular banking system (“MBS”) product. We foresee a promising market demand for this new product within the Asia region.

The PRC operation has been inaugurated with the setting up of an office in Guangzhou and a software development center in Shenzhen. The Group has appointed a Beijing based major banking and insurance systems integrator to resell its software products in the PRC. Other joint ventures and reseller appointments are being pursued in China.

The Singapore office has been established with the appointment of a Senior Vice President, recruitment of local technical staff and leasing an office. Establishment of joint ventures as an entry strategy is under consideration and the Group is in talk with potential partners.

i21 has launched its first service iStock21 in July 2000. The second ASP service of i21, called iHR21, will be launched in early September 2000. i21 has just set up its first joint venture with a leading insurance company from Australia to provide medical insurance claims service via the Internet. The new joint venture company is called iClaims21 Limited. The fourth ASP service is being considered and will be developed by the Group's development center. The management of i21 has investigated the Taiwan ASP market and received positive feedback from local financial institutions initially.
